2016-2017 “Trainer of the Year” Award

Sponsored by Cindy Reddish Quarter Horses

A trainer is a leader, an example of good conduct, sportsmanship like behavior, encouragement and empathy for the team. A trainer inspires us to reach a little deeper inside ourselves, to trust our horse a little more, to overcome our fears and improve ourselves day by day. A trainer shows us how to be a better partner and coach to our horse, who relies on us solely for guidance, in the show ring, in the practice ring, in the fields and in the barn. Our trainers see us and accept us as we are, while planning and dreaming about who we could be.

Twin Rivers want to salute the local trainers that inspire us, cheer us on, and pick us up after a bad day. We want to hear from our members about their favorite trainer, and why they should be Trainer of the Year.

Qualifications

1. Must be a “Trainer” member in good standing with TRSC, having paid their membership dues for the current season.
2. Trainer must have students who have shown during the current season.

To Nominate Your Trainer

Please write an essay of not less than 500 words.

The topic is: “How my trainer inspires me as a rider and as a person.”

All essays must be postmarked by August 1, 2017

All essay entries for Trainer of the Year will be reviewed by the Board for the TRSC “Trainer of the Year Award”
